Credential and Marks Use Policy

Introduction

The list of individual certification marks and credentials (the Marks) are owned and controlled by the Board of Certification/Accreditation (BOC) and its Board of Directors.

The Marks are granted by the BOC Board of Directors to qualified individuals who satisfy all applicable certification requirements (hereinafter referred to as “certificants”); qualified facilities that satisfy all applicable accreditation requirements (hereinafter referred to as “accredited facilities”); and qualified sponsors of continuing education (CE) activities that satisfy the requirements of the BOC CE Provider Approval Program policy. Consistent with applicable law and corporate policies, BOC must ensure that the Marks are used properly and correctly, as they represent BOC certification and accreditation to the public.

BOC retains all trademark, certification mark, and other ownership rights concerning the Marks. BOC therefore reserves, and may use, the full range of legal remedies and certification-related sanctions available under applicable laws and corporate policies to protect the Marks. Infringement of any BOC trademark or certification mark will be challenged. Questions concerning the proper use of the Marks should be submitted in writing to BOC’s Marketing Department (marketing@bocusa.org).

Each credentialed certificant, accredited facility, and approved CE provider accepts and assumes sole responsibility for understanding and satisfying all applicable governmental and legal professional requirements, including those requirements which may apply to the use, display, and/or advertising of the Marks. For example, each certificant, accredited facility, and approved CE provider is responsible for ensuring that the use of the Marks on professional and business-related materials (e.g., stationery, signs, cards or advertisements) is not in conflict with the laws of the state in which that individual, facility, or provider practices or operates. BOC assumes no responsibility concerning the application of such governmental and legal requirements.

BOC shall not be responsible or liable for any claims, complaints, suits, or damages whatsoever related to the use of the Marks, or in connection with the use of such Marks.

Use of the Marks is subject to the terms and conditions of this Policy. Please contact marketing@bocusa.org to obtain marks.
